Stalin's Address Awaited

International Policy May Be Discussed In 'Campaign' Speech

(From Press Dispatches)
MOSCOW — The Soviet Union and all Europe awaited a speech scheduled to be made by Premier Marshal Joseph Stalin Saturday night to cap the government's campaign for elections to the Supreme Soviet.

The balloting is to take place Sunday and an estimated 90 per cent of the electorate is expected to turn out.

Stalin's address has been described in advance as a probable major international policy announcement, but there has been no definite indication as to its nature.

Campaign speeches by other ranking members of the Soviet communist party's powerful politburo have been highlighted by pronouncements of Russia's desire for peace.

Deputy Prime Minister V. M. Molotov, in a major speech in Moscow's hall of columns Friday night, reiterated previous Russian statements that communism and capitalism can live together in "peaceful economic competition."

"I-Bomb Blackmailers."
But Molotov blasted at "blackmailers" from the imperialist camp for trying to scare the Soviet people with a hydrogen bomb which he said "does not exist."

Foreign diplomats studied with extreme interest the speeches of Molotov and other politburo members. They predicted the Soviet Union would make some overture toward a new effort to settle international problems which now split the world.

Molotov said he believed peace is possible, but that the Soviet union must be on its guard.

"We firmly believe in the Leninist-Stalinist principle of the peaceful co-existence of two systems and their peaceful economic competition," Molotov said. "But we also know full well that for so long as imperialism exists there exists also the danger of a new war."

Molotov's reference to the hydrogen bomb was the first time it had been mentioned by name here, although other commentators have referred to a "super-bomb."

The deputy prime minister said while "the imperialists are engaging in blackmail about the monopoly possession of the atomic bomb, the Soviet people, as is known, did not waste time but mastered the secret of atomic energy and the atomic weapon."

"Only fools," said Molotov, "can indulge in the insane calculation that they can terrorize the Soviet Union."

Arizona Man Sues Insurance Firm Here
The National Auto Insurance company of Lincoln was named defendant in a $3,713 lawsuit filed in District court by George L. Mitchell, who claims that amount is due him for the fire loss of his car which was insured by the company.

Mitchell alleges his 1948 model car, valued at $3,250, was destroyed by fire Jan. 29, and that the defendant, who took possession for its salvage value, had not paid him for the loss. In addition, he asks $463 to cover his expenses for coming from Arizona to report and prove the loss.

Evacuate Six Persons From Flooded Linwood Farm Area
Residents Removed From Isolated Homes By Plane

LINWOOD, Neb. — (AP) — Six persons had been evacuated by plane at mid-morning Saturday from a farm area near Linwood flooded as a result of an ice gorge on the Platte river.

Fifteen farms were isolated by the diverted river water and the flooded area covered about 10 sections of land.

None of the evacuees was in distress.

Gorge Causing Trouble.
The ice gorge, about three quarters of a mile long, is about 3 1/2 miles west of Linwood at the head of School island. The river channel turns to the north at this point but the ice gorge was spilling water into the farm area on the south side of the channel. Some flooding also started Saturday on the north side of the river.

Pilot on the mercy mission flights was Frank Havelka, operator of the Schuyler Air Service.

Persons evacuated included Adolph Gruntraud, Mrs. Ed Bartunek and her 10-year-old daughter, Joe Walla, Ed Hovorka and Harold Dawson. All have Linwood as their address.

At mid-morning Havelka set out to pick up Milton Ondracek, a farmer who was being evacuated because of a death in the family at North Bend.

Residents of the flooded area had been advised to lay out a white sheet if they needed mercy mission service. Havelka delivered groceries to six families and mail to four.

Freezing weather was helping the situation. The water froze as it spread out, forming its own

Which Shall It Be? A Dam Or A Dam?

WALLA WALLA, Wash. — (AP) — Dam or dam?

That was Saturday's dilemma before the local chamber of commerce publicity committee.

Sample billboards aimed at tourists were displayed. One was "Cheesecake," a pretty girl. The other was a panorama of McNary dam.

Members took a vote. Nothing binding, just a show of sentiment. The dam drew nine and the dam seven.

Housing Units At Huskerville Get Backing

Mrs. Orme Says She Will Renew Proposal

City Councilwoman Fern Hubbard Orme was making her way through the Lincoln housing situation Saturday.

She jumped back into the housing limelight after the city housing authority rejected an "undesirable" her plan to build permanent housing at Huskerville.

Mrs. Orme made the suggestion at last Monday's council meeting. She would have a 12 square block tract at the air base developed by individuals wishing to build there.

As an incentive she would have the housing authority provide "technical assistance" to the individuals as a means of defraying exorbitant construction costs.

Opposition Cited.
When the housing authority met Friday, members referred the suggestion back to the council, pointing out:

1. The city, not the housing authority, owns the property at the air base.

2. There are no school facilities there. Children would have to be transported from the base to city schools—that transportation being paid by taxpayers in school taxes.

3. Because the city owns the land proposed for development, it could not be taxed.

4. There are plenty of available sites in the city which could be developed—and these sites already have water, sewer, and school facilities.

Mrs. Orme's Rebuttal
To those objections the councilwoman replied:

1. Hundreds of children are being transported at the expense of school districts in every part of the state at this time.

2. "Annexation" of the air base by the city would permit the city to tax property there.

3. Sites in the city which could be developed "could be used to a better advantage" if put to some use other than housing.

Mrs. Orme was disturbed with the "summary dismissal" of the housing authority gave her proposal. She said she would return the request to the authority at Monday's council meeting. "This time," she said, "I'll make it more specific."

Parents' Council On Cerebral Palsy To Hold Meeting
The executive board of the Nebraska Parents' Council on Cerebral Palsy will meet with the council's president, Walter E. Meier, at his home Sunday afternoon to discuss their recently drafted constitution and committee reports.

Representatives from Omaha, Hastings and Lincoln will bring committee reports from their chapters and suggestions for the constitution.

S. Orson Perkins, secretary for the Nebraska Society for Crippled Children, will address the group.

Top Price 65c.
Leon Wondra, Lincoln, paid the top price, 65 cents, for a section in Daves county and Gillen paid 40 cents for another. Osborne got 40 cents for a section and Ohio Oil Co., paid 30 cents for another. W. A. Gillen, Lincoln, paid 50 cents for a section and Donald W. Pierce, Alliance, 65 cents for another.

Atop Truck Roof Four Hours.
The flooding, which started earlier this week, produced at least one harrowing experience. Adolph Gruntraud had been shingling a roof at the Louis Macholn home Monday. As he was driving home in his truck, the machine stalled. Flood waters climbed so fast Gruntraud had to take refuge on the roof of his truck.

Macholn spotted Gruntraud on the truck top and a brother, Joe Macholn, maneuvered a boat through the floating ice chunks and hay stacks, and finally removed Gruntraud from his perch. Gruntraud had been atop the truck for four hours.

Twenty-five head of cattle belonging to Phillip Kriz were isolated on School Island. They had stood in water up to their bellies and their tails were said to have frozen off.

Snow And Ice Make Roads Hazardous In Southeast

O'Neill Hit Again As Winter Has Last Fling

Light Rain And Snow To Accompany Below Freezing Temps Over Week End

A weekend of below-freezing temperatures, mixed with scattered light snows and fresh north winds, was predicted today as winter was making one of its last flings in Nebraska.

Moderate snow was falling this morning at Scottsbluff, Chadron, Norfolk, Hayes Center and Sidney, adding to the two to four inch carpeting over that area.

O'Neill, center of the swift-striking March blizzard that blew in and out of the state Tuesday, had six to seven inches of new snow. North of the Platte river, packed snow and ice were making driving difficult. Seven inches of new snow was reported in the Randolph area by the Burlington railroad.

Sanding Some Roads

Worst icy road conditions today were in the state's southeast corner, bounded on the north by the Platte and Kearney in the west, Acting Highway Maintenance Engineer Clay F. Mitchell reported. The highway department had done some sanding on hills between Lincoln and Omaha and Lincoln and Seward early today. However, traffic was reported wearing the glaze from yesterday's freezing rain from highways.

United Air Lines reported at noon that all flights were by-passing Lincoln because of the iced runways at Municipal airport. Officials said the weather would not keep planes grounded and that all other flights in the state were operating on schedule. Only iced runways prevented landings and takeoffs here.

Damage Here Slight.

Power companies reported no damage from ice on wires. The Lincoln Telephone and Telegraph company said long distance service to all towns was restored by noon. Circuits had been downed to 15 towns when ice, as much as a quarter inch thick, snapped wires. Damage in Lincoln was "very scattered and light," an official said.

Weathermen explained a long ridge of cold air, extending from the southeast midwest to northwest Canada, is moving down from the Dakotas. With it will come an overnight nip of five to 10 degrees above zero. Sunday readings will reach 15 to 20 degrees.

Western Nebraska will get more light snow tonight. Intermittent snowfall is expected over the remainder of the state, stopping as clouds break up Sunday night. Winds will diminish Sunday.

.65 Inches Here.

In the 24 hours ending early today, Lincoln had .65 of an inch of precipitation, almost all of it freezing rain. The light, blowing snow added to the glazed condition of Lincoln streets, police warned.

A total of 32 minor accidents were listed by police between noon and midnight Friday. Only one involved injuries, and they were minor for three persons.

City buses were all operating this morning, but a company spokesman noted, "They're off schedule some."

Roads were not badly affected by the sleet and snow. Inter-city buses were back in service from the Lincoln depot, after a brief halt Friday night.

At Seward, the icy roads were causing a booming hotel business. By 6:30 p. m. Friday, 30 travelers had registered at the Windsor hotel, according to Night Clerk George G. Welsh. All of the hotels' 23 room volunteer firemen rushed to the station to answer an alarm early today, they found the streets too dangerous to drive their fire truck. So, after grabbing fire extinguishers, they went running and sliding to the small blaze behind a building a half block away.

Passenger Car Increase In '49 Listed At 25,000
The number of passenger cars in the state increased more than 25,000 in 1949 as compared to the previous year, complete reports from county treasurers reveal. Owen J. Boyles, assistant director of the motor vehicle division said Saturday.

Registration last year was 420,311 as compared to 394,652 in 1948. Commercial trucks increased from 52,326 to 54,609 and farm trucks from 53,813 to 59,931. Local trucks went up from 4,844 to 4,933.

There were two less taxicabs in use, only 585 being registered. Biggest decline in registration was in trailers. Commercial trailers dropped from 1,382 to 1,355 and miscellaneous trailers from 50,625 to 46,143. The number of motorcycles declined from 5,581 to 4,978.

There was a slight increase in house trailers from 3,705 to 3,863 and semi-trailers increased from 5,677 to 6,268.

Phone Service Cut

Lincoln Telephone & Telegraph Co. will discontinue secretarial service to patrons. Application for the change was approved by the state railway commission Friday.

Lie Stand On China Resented

Statement Clashes With Policy Of U. S.

LAKE SUCCESS, N. Y. — (INS) — U. N. Secretary General Trygve Lie's proposal for considering admitting communist China to the world organization, brought him into conflict Saturday with the United States.

His statement that representation should be accorded any government enjoying actual rule over its territory clashes with U. S. policy as expressed by Secretary of State Acheson.

The United States is strongly opposed to ousting the Chinese nationalist delegation.

Ignores Criticisms.
Brushing aside criticisms that he appeared to lean to appeasement of the Soviet Union and the Chinese communists, Lie said:

"It is not at all a surrender to Russia. It is a surrender to international law and to common sense. As secretary general I must reserve to myself the right to proceed in conformity with the charter in the best interests of U. N."

The U. N. chief insisted that the "first concern of all the governments should be to uphold and strengthen the organization that is the world's one hope for peace."

Proposes Defense.
Lie stated his defense of his proposals, which were submitted to the United States and other governments earlier, in a six-point declaration. One of the points listed proposed early action by the security council on the Chinese question.

On this, Lie urged the creation of a committee of enquiry by the 11-nation council to determine from a legal standpoint which of the two Chinese governments has control of the mainland and the bulk of the people.

Also injured in a car accident was Mrs. Sarah Smith, 44, Sau Francisco. She suffered a fractured collarbone when the car in which she was riding skidded on the ice and turned on its side about two miles east of Cheney on Highway 2.

Mrs. Walt Waldman, 30, 255 B. Huskerville, received a bruised knee in a two-car collision about two and one-half miles west on O street.

NEW CARS COME DOWN—Not the price, but 14 new cars themselves, tumbled down at the Victoria, B.C. agency when the roof on which they were stored suddenly collapsed. Doctor Keeps 'Death Diary' To Assist Medical Science

ST. JOSEPH — (AP) — Dr. Edward F. Higdon, a retired physician with a rare and incurable disease, is keeping a "death diary" on the malady that may kill him any time.

The doctor, 75, dictates notes on every aspect of the ailment to a stenographer. She types the diary which he will leave to medical science in hopes it will lead to some cure, even if too late to aid him.

"I have to get busy and find out something about this thing," he said, "or I'm not going to be around very long."

Cripples Muscles.
Little is known about the disease, called myasthenia gravis. It cripples the voluntary muscles of the face, tongue and throat, later spreading to the respiratory system and finally the heart muscles.

The muscles weaken, then refuse to perform. Swallowing becomes impossible. In the final stages the victim dies of exhaustion.

4-Room Cottage Entered; Damage In Excess $500
A four-room cottage a quarter-mile north of the junction just west of Havelock was ransacked this week with damage upwards of $500, it has been reported to the county sheriff's office.

Deputy Sheriff Merle Karnopp said all windows were broken, cans of paint upset with paint splattered all over the floor and walls, and clothes and bedding thrown about.

ONE FOR THE BOOKS

Old Mother Nature brushed aside restraint and wrote a little bit of history this week.

There will be talk of the storm which swept across the plains for many years to come. Loss of life has been exceeded on many occasions. Property damage, severe in isolated spots, nevertheless fell far short of other records. Fortunately a gale of hurricane intensity that appeared out of nowhere after a brief spell of springlike temperatures, was of very short duration, and the cattle weathered it through.

When the wind mounted to peak fury, many Nebraskans thought of the Easter Day tornado which dealt Omaha a savage blow. The two storms had a great deal in common. It was humid, and unpleasant preceding the Omaha tornado, the wind roared throughout the day from out of the south, and the skies were overcast. The air was so dust-filled that when raindrops descended, they came in the form of flabby mudballs, splattering against shining windows upon which spring cleaning care had been lavished, and splashing fresh paint. Shortly before sunset, the familiar funnel-shaped clouds enlivened the heavens (three distinct formations were visible at one time) and then the wires began to sing of smashed homes, uprooted trees, and loss of life.

Unless memory is faulty, the barometer last Tuesday did a greater nose dive than on the day of the Omaha tornado. We may have been lucky that old Mother Nature decided to put on a show early instead of later in the season. But at week's end, the storm tales were still occupying reader attention.

Man does a pretty good job occasionally in impressing human beings with force. But when Nature makes up her mind to demonstrate her power, man gets a better appreciation of the possibilities of drawing upon Nature for mass destruction. The atomic bomb is one. The super hydrogen bomb with which man has set out to tinkler may be another. The smart thing, perhaps, might be to reach a truce with Nature to leave her in all of her majesty strictly alone on the condition that she smiles upon all the world's little children.

Day by day, and week by week, Nebraska's Senator Wherry seems to be drawing bigger headlines. A loquacious fellow, in congressional midstream at this time, Senator Wherry is outdoing himself. Last week, it was a proposal that President Truman address a series of open letters to good old Joe. Near week's end, the Nebraskan was in with another—a stinging criticism of an old target, Secretary of State Dean Acheson, and this time, Attorney General McGrath. Senator Wherry was displeased with the decision to send convicted Russian spy Valentin Gubitchev back to Russia on an order of deportation instead of to prison for the next 15 years. The American people, of course, would have to foot the bill for Gubitchev's bed and board for the next 15 years. That is too good for him.

We can't think of any sterner punishment than to send him back, bag and baggage, to Russia. He fell down on his job. He got caught, and good. One

Texan's Claim To Name Of Jesse James Denied

UNION, Mo.—(INS)—A 102-year-old Texan who says he is outlaw Jesse James still is just J. Frank Dalton in the eyes of the law.

The Union judge who denied Dalton's petition to "resume the name" of Jesse Woodson James commented:

"If you are Jesse James, you should go back where you came from and pray to God to forgive you. For a quarter of a century the James gang robbed and murdered the people of Missouri, and there is too much blood crying from the soil."

The jurist, Circuit Judge Ransom A. Brewer, said he threw the case out of court because the bewhiskered Dalton failed to produce evidence that his name ever had been changed. Therefore, he said, the court could not legally grant the old man's request.

The aged Texan—brought into court on a stretcher because of a broken hip—disputes the history book report that it was Jesse James who fell before the smoking gun of Bob Ford in St. Joseph,

Mo., on April 4, 1882. He says it was Charles Bigelow, who "resembles me."

Three old-timers from St. Joseph who said they viewed James' body the day the outlaw was shot traveled to Union to testify against Dalton.

Sandia Jail Fire Toll Reaches 15

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M.—(INS)—Civilian and military experts Saturday continued to investigate the cause of the searing fire which flashed through the guardhouse at the Sandia secret weapons base near Albuquerque, taking 15 lives.

The death toll reached 15 Friday night with the death of 24-year-old Harry C. Handley of Hamilton, Ohio.

Doctors said another survivor, Robert C. Darsnek, 20, of Minneapolis, was somewhat improved, but is suffering from amnesia and is unable to recall what happened.

thing which the Russians do not forgive is failure, and they may have a way of dealing with men who being the mother country into disrepute.

Senator Wherry had another notion.

"I think the state department's decision to let Gubitchev out of the country because of the fear of reprisals behind the Iron Curtain, is stupid and unrealistic," he said. "The reprisals have already taken place. It's time we learn to treat the Russians like they treat us." That is so easily said from the top of Capitol Hill. Senator Wherry, of course, is not risking his neck back of the Iron Curtain. The chances are that he will remain on this side of the Iron Curtain.

But the state department does have a large number of men and women in very hazardous posts, and within recent weeks, Moscow has dealt a new type of persecution to American representatives abroad within the areas of Russian satellite nations.

There are several courses which these republican congressional leaders could adopt if they desire to take a realistic view. One would be to order impeachment charges against Secretary Acheson and Attorney General McGrath. Another would be to circulate a round-robin among their colleagues urging the president of the United States to declare war. They all talk war, but only congress, acting either upon the recommendation of the chief executive, or upon its own steam, can declare war. But this is the open season for politicians and the reader must be prepared to make due allowance for short tempers and ugly charges.

Midweek, a dependable telegraph editor brought in a story which had just come in over the wire—a dispatch so weird and so fantastic as to excite his caution. In the current craze of flying moons and flying saucers, a Los Angeles business man slipped a glib reporter a tale about the landing of a pygmy, enormous head, a creature out of this world, and apparently an arrival from some strange planet. The news bureau had swallowed the story, hook, line and sinker. It was no more idiotic than many that have passed between lip and mouth. But it was quickly exploded—somebody told somebody else so-and-so. Only it didn't happen. Some ambitious writer a hundred years hence can draw upon a dazzling collection of fairy tales for a book.

Soviet Foreign minister Molotov was in anything but a holiday mood when he got around to addressing the Russian people. He described America's attempt at producing a hydrogen bomb as "blackmail," inspired by the knowledge that the Russians have broken America's monopoly of the atomic bomb. How wonderful it would be if the western world could take Molotov at his word! He told his people that Russia was determined to defend peace against all the attempts of world imperialists to start a third world war.

It was touch-and-go for British Labor. Labor's Attlee had met and turned back the Conservative challenge to Labor's leadership but the margin was so slim that Attlee and his colleagues face the prospect of living from hand to mouth. Next week, they run up against the buzz saw of housing, and if there is one issue upon which Labor leadership will find it difficult to maintain its lines, it is housing. The housing program has lagged—due to lack of materials, the cost of labor, and finally, to the magnitude of the job which faced the government at the close of the war.

Trouble broke out in a new spot for Attlee, also. The British medical profession, chafing sullenly under a program of socialized medicine, was demanding higher fees. Already the financial burdens of Britain's program of socialized medicine have far exceeded estimates, and there was little chance of a higher fee scale getting the nod. But things were moving towards a showdown rapidly.

John L. Lewis had one victory under his belt and a bloody nose in connection with another cherished hope. He wanted CIO under Murray and his own mine workers to join hands in common defense, but the only response he got was a cold "no." And it will be months before Lewis and his men actually are able to measure the results of their latest victory over the operators. The drift throughout the country towards other types of fuel may leave Lewis empty-handed in the end.

Mr. Truman was showing wear and tear, and anxiety to get away from Washington on a vacation . . . congress, with most of its work yet to be finished had kissed goodbye to all the prospects of an early finish . . . but the American people, sensing the early arrival of spring, had other matters on their minds . . . baseball . . . planting gardens . . . and even early shaping of vacation plans. They were taking a realistic view of things at home.

Two Fighter Planes Crash

Both Pilots Dead

STUEBENVILLE, O.—(INS)—Two air force F-51 fighter planes apparently collided in flight Friday night and crashed near here, killing the two reservist pilots.

The charred skeletons of the planes were found three miles apart on the outskirts of Steubenville.

The single-engine, single-seater craft were part of a formation of five F-51s on a routine flight from Lockbourne air base in Columbus, O.

Coroner John Emmerella of Jefferson county tentatively identified the dead as Lt. William M. Drazic of Steubenville, a student at Ohio State university, and Lt. Neal H. Diehl of Columbus.

The three other planes returned safely to the Columbus airfield.

Chapter 26.

Don and Anne stepped forward and she didn't fully realize that she was holding his hand. Don's gentle voice was very quiet.

"I dared to come back, sir, to bring you news of the boys in Chicago. I saw them on my way back East. They look very well indeed. I thought you would like to know, so I forced my way in."

Roger drew a deep breath and his eyes blinked. "You forced your way in." He repeated the words heavily. "I deserve that. I can't even offer you my hand because I'm not sure you'd take it. But I can ask you a question. Deep down in your heart, didn't you know we have been waiting for you?"

"I'm afraid I haven't dared to look deep down in my heart since the day I left here."

"I know," Roger nodded slowly. "I have a lot to answer for. I should have gone after you, but I am lazy and fat, and stupid. Stupid more than anything."

Anne bent to kiss his forehead. "Don't say any more, Father. Don doesn't hold anything against us. He is cleverer than we are. He not only sees the twins in Chicago but has given them back their dogs."

"I dared to defy you, sir."

Roger got up heavily, steadying himself with the big chair. "Why didn't you defy me six months ago? Why didn't you tell me to go straight to blazes? Why didn't you knock me down if I got in your way? Were you afraid of hurting me? Haven't I been hurt far more this way than if you had beaten me with your fists and put me into a hospital?"

Anne took his arm steadily. "That's all past, Father. Don has come in out of the snow and we're getting a new start. We can't let Don be sorry. We have to show him. It will do no good to talk of past stupidities. Present intelligence is what we need. Mary is practical. She is fixing a grand dinner for us. She didn't ask Don if he could or would stay; she just said she was fixing his favorite things. We were pushed out of the kitchen."

"If you young people will excuse me and go down to the library where it is much cozier, I shall dress myself properly and join you in a few minutes."

"I'd better help you, Father. Don won't mind."

"But I will, my dear. All the help I need I have already been given. Oh yes. One thing more." He held out his hand. "Will you let me apologize, Don?"

"Certainly not, sir." Don caught the proffered hand warmly. "It is good of you to let me see you all again."

Roger chuckled for the first time in weeks. "And you will stop saying sir to me, I hope. Roger is a sort of pompous name, but suitable."

"Thank you, Roger."

The fat man still held his hand. "It looks as if this snow might well last all night. It is already very heavy on the ground even here in the city. Could I induce you to accept shelter under my roof? I can't offer you pajamas, but one of my shirts might make a nightgown for you."

"Father! What a silly thing to say!"

But Anne had to laugh even as she tried to protest. He hadn't shown a single flash of humor since the twins had left the house on Christmas Eve, which had come to seem a whole lifetime away. Don joined in Roger's chuckle.

"I shall be delighted to stay if you will let me telephone Mother to tell her I am here. She will be delighted to hear it."

Roger waved his arm in one of his usual expansive gestures. "As the proud Spaniard says, 'In entering my house you do possess it.' You will consider yourself snowed in with us."

"As a matter of fact, I was snowed in out in Montana. We got Chicago papers just before New Year's and there was much about Celia's triumph in the new musical. They are mad about her out there. Even the radio had stories about Celia and the twins. It was an inspired publicity stunt."

Roger closed his eyes. "I hope she doesn't use that word."

"She does, Roger. You know she is reveling in her triumph. But she is good enough to the boys in her way. They have a fancy nurse. Everyone in the hotel wants to be good to them. Everyone speaks to them on the street when they go out. There are even Rob-Roy suits for twins."

"Oh, my poor boys. Celia is worse than heartless. It must be awful for them."

"They have their dogs now," said Anne gently.

Gubitchev To Return To Russia

Expected To Leave New York March 20 Aboard Liner Batory

NEW YORK.—(INS)—Valentin A. Gubitchev bowed Friday night to a jury's verdict that he conspired to spy on the United States and agreed to return to Russia to escape a 15-year jail sentence.

The 33-year-old suspended United Nations attaché is expected to sail March 20 from New York aboard the Polish liner Batory.

This is the same ship on which Gerhardt Eisler, alleged number one communist in the United States, fled as a stowaway while under bail.

Deportation Criticized.

Gubitchev's deportation, recommended by the state and justice departments, drew sharp congressional fire.

Gubitchev, third secretary of the Soviet ministry of foreign affairs, was convicted by a New York federal court with Judith Coplon last Tuesday.

The former government girl, sentenced earlier in Washington to serve 30 months in 10 years under a similar conviction, drew a 15-year sentence in New York.

The New York jury of six men and six women found them guilty of attempting to pass defense secrets to Russia.

To Sall With Wife.

Sailing with Gubitchev will be his wife, Lydia. It was believed the United Nations will pay for the passage even though the convicted spy has been under suspension since his indictment.

In Washington Friday, Acheson wherry (R-Nebr) charged Acheson with "unfitness" and "bungling" because of the decision on Gubitchev.

He charged that Acheson had "conspired" with Attorney General McGrath for Gubitchev's deportation.

Storm Death Toll Hits 7

For Nebraska

OMAHA.—(AP)—Omaha has counted its first storm-related death, bringing to seven the deaths in the state directly or indirectly related to Tuesday's storm.

Mrs. Anna McFarland, 75, died in a hospital of shock suffered after she was knocked down while battling a loose screen during Tuesday's windy blasts. She suffered a broken hip and lay for nearly a half hour before a neighbor found her.

JUST FOLKS

By EDGAR A. GUEST

OLD POOL.

I've been told I'm old enough not to fall for flattery's stuff; that I should be able to see all that time has done to me; that the mirror plainly shows I've aged beyond all doubt.

Wrinkled cheeks and thinning hair, and should know while standing there that I'm nothing to admire even in my best attire.

There's no fool, as I've been told, like a fool that's growing old. When an old man looks in a mirror, when a maiden on my knee gives me a wrinkled cheek a kiss, I'm sure she's saying things like "You look wonderful today!" And I love you dressed in gray."

Do I look old? Yes, I do. Though I know it can't be true.

Polish grandpa all believe any phrase they receive. (Copyright, 1950, Edgar A. Guest)

Fine Arts Ensemble Concert Is Display Of Musicianship

By RONALD BARNES.

Chamber music is one of the most exacting forms of musical expression, demanding the utmost in musicianship and technical proficiency from those who choose to play it, but the reward of sincere effort is a valuable musical experience such as that provided by the Fine Arts Ensemble in concert at the Student Union Thursday night.

The string players of the ensemble, Emanuel Wishnow, violin, Rosemary Madison, cello, Max Gilbert, viola, and Truman Morson, second violin, opened the concert with Mozart's Quartet in D Minor, K. 421, a beautiful example of Mozart's feeling for this medium.

In the chamber music of Mozart, especially in the quartets, composition for small groups of instruments emerged from the role of mere entertainment for the titled classes into that of a pure art form, not dependent upon external conditions.

Well Played.

The D minor quartet is composed of the usual four movements, outstanding of which was the Menuetto. This vigorous and delightful music was well played by the members of the quartet with special mention for Mrs. Madison, whose cello playing is thoroughly sincere and scholarly.

Ernest Bloch's Passages, played next by the quartet, is barren and, for the most part, uninteresting music. Composed of three movements entitled North, Alpestre and Tongataboo, the work is an excellent example of the highly colored music which followed the compositions of the impressionistic masters, and, in spite of the "color for color's sake" idea behind it, it has strong musical tendencies.

The first movement, North, gave one the impression (to coin a phrase) of diluted lemon juice. The overall impression of this section of the concert was one of hors l'oeuvre before the main course. In the case of last night's

O. H. Liebers Named Head Cattle Group

Guernsey Breeders

The Nebraska Guernsey Breeders association re-elected three officers to their posts for the coming year at a meeting of the board of directors Friday at the Cornhusker hotel. Plans adopted for the coming year included employing a full-time Golden Guernsey field man.

Re-elected were O. H. Liebers, Route 1, Lincoln, president; Dr. Edward Liegh, Hardy, vice president, and Joe P. Muller, Omaha, secretary-treasurer.

The Guernsey association decided upon a plan of joining with Iowa and Minnesota in employing a full-time Golden Guernsey field man to serve the three states. Details will be worked out at a meeting of officers from the three groups April 5 in Des Moines, Iowa.

The emphasis of the coming year's program was placed both on a spring show and type school to be held at the 4-H Club building at the state fair grounds during the last week in May, and on the organization of district Guernsey groups to affiliate with the state association. Strong support was given 4-H club work on state and national levels.

Directors of the Nebraska Guernsey association, each serving three years, are:

O. H. Liebers, Lincoln.

Joe P. Muller, Omaha.

Murray Barnard, Beatrice.

Halley Royce, Waterloo.

Dr. Edward Liegh, Hardy.

Charles Fairley, Fairbury.

Walter Pfeiffer, Arlington.

Delbert Ryerson, Rock.

Leo Imig, Seward.

Cathedral candles in seven-branched holders, and banks of greenery formed the background for the service, which was read by the Rev. Herman Goede, minister of Friedens Lutheran.
As the guests assembled, Miss Jacqueline Reinick played a prelude of organ music, including Serenade from "The Student Prince," "Thine Alone," "Elle," "Wonderful One," "Nielan," "Because," "D'Ardelet," and the theme from "Romero and Juliet," Tschalkowsky. Miss Reinick also played the wedding music.
Mrs. Vern Alderson, as her sister's matron of honor and only attendant, appeared in an oxford blue suit with which she wore accessories in the banana tone. Her corsage was of Johanna Hill roses.
Mr. Alderson served Mr. Walters as best man, and the ushers were E. E. Guthmann and Herbert M. Casey.
The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose a beige-toned suit for her wedding, and completed her ensemble with a brown straw cloche, and brown accessories. Her shoulder corsage was of sweetheart roses and white carnations.
Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents where the refreshment table was arranged with spring flowers and greenery, and centered with a tiered wedding cake.
Assisting at the reception were Mrs. William H. Schmolter

Week-End Addenda

THUMBING THROUGH OUR calendar we found that this is a busy week-end for Miss Phyllis Harris, whose marriage to Paul Blumer will be an event of April 5.
Last Thursday evening Miss Harris shared honors with Miss Patricia Guhin, whose marriage to Houghton Furr takes place on Sunday, when Miss Mary Chaney, Miss Katherine Pfeiffer and Mrs. Charles Seymour entertained at the home of the Misses Chaney and Pfeiffer. Twelve guests were invited.
AND BEFORE THURSDAY there was the party for which Mrs. C. L. Baumgartner and her daughter, Corlis, were hostesses. Sixteen guests were invited to the affair which was a neighborhood mother-daughter party. And then there was the towel shower for which Miss Patricia Graham was hostess when she entertained ten guests. And the party last Sunday evening for both Miss Harris and Mr. Blumer, for which Mr. and Mrs. Sterling Maus and Mr. and Mrs. Darold Rohrbaugh were hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Rohrbaugh. Following supper the evening was devoted to canasta, and the honored guests were presented with a one-gift shower.
TODAY, COMPLEMENTING Miss Harris, Mrs. Jack McCartney and her mother, Mrs. A. M. Geist, entertained at luncheon and a personal shower at the home of Mrs. McCartney. The afternoon was spent informally and Miss Harris was presented with a personal shower.
ON SUNDAY EVENING Mr. and Mrs. Fred L. Blumer will honor their son and Miss Harris when they are host and hostess at supper at their home. The guest list of nine will include only members of the families.
ANOTHER LUNCHEON on the books for today was the no hostess surprise birthday luncheon given in celebration of the birthday anniversary of Sarah Grabenstein. Miss Susan Fraser made the reservations, and the table was arranged for eighteen.
In spite of the fact that the honoree and her hostesses are but twelve years of age, it seems they are pretty sharp at the game of canasta—So naturally the group remained at the club for an afternoon of canasta.
OFF TO CHICAGO this evening will go Mr. and Mrs. George Lemon who plan to return home the latter part of next week. Mr. Lemon, while in Chicago, will attend a convention of the National Cleaners and Dyers association.

February Ceremony

At a 10 o'clock morning ceremony, Saturday, February 4, Miss Shirley Standley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Sielaff, became the bride of Howard L. DeBoer. Lighted white cathedral candles appointed the chancel of St. Mary's cathedral in Lincoln for the service, the lines of which were read by the Rev. C. J. Riordan.
The wedding music was played by Miss Rosemary Graham, organist, who also presented a prelude of organ music preceding the ceremony.

The maid of honor and bride's only attendant was Miss Virginia Foster who was frocked in a floor-length gown of pink tulle with a wide ruffle of lace framed the deep yoke of silk illusion in the off-shoulder mode, and the fitted bodice was completed by long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Two vertical panels of the lace formed the back trim of the circular skirt, which tapered into a train, and a halo of seed pearls and beading held her lace-edged veil of illusion. She carried a rounded bouquet of white roses from which showered white satin ribbons.
Best man was Maurice Wallen of Unadilla, cousin of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Albert Stava, brother of the bride, Martin Read, brother of the bridegroom, and Eldon Crandell, both of Palmyra, and Ray Davis of Dwight.

Following the ceremony, a wedding supper for the members of the family and bridal party was held at the home of the bride's uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Wencil Hurt. White tapers and white roses appointed the bridal table, which was centered with a tiered wedding cake, and assisting with the serving were Mrs. Anton Prenosil, Mrs. Charles Kriz, Mrs. Edward Brym, Mrs. Joe Prenosil, Mrs. Elmer Prenosil, Mrs. Leola Novak, Mrs. Joe Kriz and Miss Laurine Davis.
The couple left for a short wedding trip later to reside at 242 South Twenty-ninth street in Lincoln. Mrs. Read wore for traveling a tailored suit in the toast shade with brown accessories and a corsage of gardenias.

Chapel Wedding

Tall lighted candles in four pedestal candelabra, and arrangements of greenery, decorated the chapel of the First Presbyterian church for the marriage of Miss Gladys Stava, daughter of Mrs. Catherine Stava, to Clifford W. Read, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross L. Read of Palmyra, which took place Saturday afternoon, February 18, on the thirtieth wedding anniversary of the bridegroom's parents. The Rev. C. Vin White read the lines of the 3 o'clock ceremony, assisted by the Rev. Donald Proett, minister of the First Presbyterian church at Palmyra.
As the candles were lighted by Miss LeAnn Novak, cousin of the bride, and Miss Neola Read of Eagle, cousin of the bridegroom, Paul Nicholas sang "Always," and "Because," accompanied by Miss Grace Finch, organist. Miss Finch also played the wedding music.
Attending the bride were Mrs. Ray Davis of Dwight, sister of the bride, Mrs. Eldon Crandell of Palmyra, sister of the bridegroom, and Miss Joan Rezac of Seward. Their identical frocks were fashioned of cloud blue tulle in the colonial mode with shirred bodices, puffed sleeves and full skirts. They carried muffs of white satin ornamented with clusters of white and blue-tinted feathered carnations. Wearing a floor-length gown of white satin was the flower girl, Miss Mary Jo Novak, cousin of the bride.
Given in marriage by her grandfather, Joseph Hurt, the bride appeared in a gown of white satin. A wide ruffle of lace framed the deep yoke of silk illusion in the off-shoulder mode, and the fitted bodice was completed by long sleeves ending in points over the hands. Two vertical panels of the lace formed the back trim of the circular skirt, which tapered into a train, and a halo of seed pearls and beading held her lace-edged veil of illusion. She carried a rounded bouquet of white roses from which showered white satin ribbons.
Best man was Maurice Wallen of Unadilla, cousin of the bridegroom, and the ushers were Albert Stava, brother of the bride, Martin Read, brother of the bridegroom, and Eldon Crandell, both of Palmyra, and Ray Davis of Dwight.

Cornhuskers At K-State Tonight

Confusing Big Seven Race Comes To A Head

NEBRASKA'S Cornhuskers are in Manhattan, Kas., tonight to engage the K-State Wildcats in a game that has kept the experts and novices guessing.

Huskies Start Journey

Nebraska's Cornhuskers did leave for Manhattan by bus early Saturday morning. Coach Harry Good said, before leaving, that in the event the team could not reach Manhattan because of road conditions, the game would probably be played Monday at the K-State fair.

The scheduled itinerary:
7:45 a.m.—Leave coliseum by bus.
11:30 a.m.—Arrive Manhattan.
12:00—Workout at Kansas State gym.
1:30 p.m.—Lunch at Wareham hotel.
2:30 p.m.—Rest period.
5:00 p.m.—Light meal.
6:00 p.m.—Bus to gym.
8:00 p.m.—Game.
10:30 p.m.—Meal.
11:30 p.m.—Leave Manhattan by bus.
2:30 a.m.—Arrive Lincoln.

With the Big Seven cage race presenting a tangled maze to all followers, speculations, prophecies and wagers on the outcome have been numerous, but the fog has not lifted.

After Saturday night the wild and hottest conference campaign of all time will be decided in one of three ways.

THREE WAYS.
1. Nebraska can win the championship by defeating Kansas State if Kansas loses to Oklahoma.

2. Kansas can win the title by beating Oklahoma if Nebraska falls before Kansas State.

3. Nebraska, Kansas State and Kansas can tie for first place if the Wildcats nudge the Huskers and Oklahoma trips the Jayhawks. Nebraska's defending champions close out the year in Kansas State's gym.

Dons Face NIT Battle

... To Repeat

NEW YORK—(AP)—Defending Champion San Francisco, the Cinderella team of last year, opens its uphill battle for another National Invitation basketball tournament title Saturday afternoon.

The Dons were unseeded again and only even money in their game against City College of New York. But Coach Pete Newell insisted before game time that his boys were a good bet to win the glass slipper for the second straight year.

San Francisco (19-6) meets CCNY (17-5) in the second game of an afternoon doubleheader.

In the 1 p. m. (CST) opener, Western Kentucky (24-3) plays underdog Niagara (20-6). Of the 12 teams entered, Niagara is the only one playing its first NIT tournament. Western rated about eight points over the upstate New York quintet.

LASALLE FAVORED.

LaSalle (20-3) is a 12-point favorite over Arizona (26-4), in one game Saturday night; in the other, Long Island (20-4) is even over Syracuse (17-8).

The four seeded teams aren't playing Saturday. They drew byes and will play in the quarter-finals next week.

Seeded in order, they are Bradley (27-3), the nation's No. 1 team in the final Associated Press poll, Kentucky (25-4), upset in its first NIT game last year; Duquesne (22-4) loser of its last three games, and St. John's (22-4), ranked the best metropolitan team.

Finals of the week-long grind are next Saturday night. Bradley and St. John's play their first games Monday night; Kentucky and Duquesne Tuesday night.

Terrier, Bulldog Confab Slated

Canine enthusiasts who mistake the Boston terrier for bulldog will have an opportunity to get straightened out Monday night when the Cornhusker Kennel club meets at the YMCA at 8.

The club has arranged for Mr. and Mrs. Fisher to exhibit a bulldog and Mrs. Leslie Loomis to show a Boston terrier. The differences and similarities of the two breeds will be pointed out at that time.

Connie Says Bob Wellman 'Uppercuts' Ball

(Special to The Star)
WEST PALM BEACH, Fla.—Connie Mack, the Philadelphia Athletics' 87-year-old manager, has already seen most of his changes in early workouts here as spring training opened.

When asked about Rookie Bob Wellman, the husky outfielder and an ex-member of the Lincoln

Novick Leaves
Walt Novick, catcher with the Lincoln A's in '48 and '49, left today for West Palm Beach, Fla., where he will start spring training. He later will join the catching ranks of the Buffalo Bisons of the International league.

A's, who delivered a homerun ball over the wall one afternoon, Manager Mack commented: "He uppercuts the ball. There'll be some doubt about him."

Another Capital City favorite, Lou Limmer, demonstrated his slugging technique Wednesday also clouting a round tripper.

Friday, the A's pared their roster and included in the slash was Bobby Stewart, Lincoln's shortstop last year. Stewart was sent to Buffalo of the International league.

Other former Lincoln players also made news at the camp here. Freddy Wells, the familiar figure of the mound who liked to pitch to first base, will join Stewart at Buffalo.

Bobby Shantz, another mound artist, was tabbed to pitch Saturday in the Athletics' exhibition contest here against Washington. He will share the duty with Lou Brissie.

BRANNUM VS. BUS.
K-State mentor, Jack Gardner, will send his same starting combo to the post for the 24th time this season. Wildcat starters are Rick Harman, Jack Stone, Clarence Brannum, Ernie Barrett and Lloyd Krone.

Brannum will draw the assignment of stopping Nebraska's All-Big Seven center Bus Whitehead, while Harman will head the rebound department and Barrett, Krone and Stone will handle the basket barrage.

Nebraska's veteran guard, Bob Cerv, may see limited action in Saturday's contest. The fiery ball-hawk has been ailing with a virus infection and the flu this week. In case the Weston flash can't play, Good will probably rely on clutch-man Joe Brown.

Nebraska won the previous meeting of the two teams this season, dropping the Wildcats 65-63, in Lincoln.

The Huskers are currently tied for first in the Big Seven with Kansas with an 8-3 record in conference play, while Kansas State rests in the No. 2 spot with a 7-4 mark. Even a win over Nebraska can only give the Wildcats a tie for conference laurels.

Baseball Exhibition Tilts Up

Rookies Get Chance To Shine; 363 Games

TAMPA, Fla.—(AP)—Now is the time for the 1950 rookie crop to put up or shut up. The major league 363-game exhibition schedule opens Saturday and there will be no more fooling around.

The new phenoms who can run like Citation and hit like Ruth must prove it under actual game conditions. For many, the end is in sight.

With only 10 or less days of practice, depending on local weather conditions, the boys must start playing games. Under baseball law they couldn't practice before March 1.

All 16 majors are busy Saturday in a full program that stretches from Miami, Fla., to Pasadena, Calif. There won't be a letup until the season open in mid-April.

LONGEST SERIES.
The longest inter-league series will be staged by the Indians and Giants, perennial spring rivals. They play at Tucson Saturday, Phoenix Sunday and so on in an 18-game schedule. Two final pre-season dates at Cleveland's municipal series will end the extended tour.

More often than not, the Cardinal-Yank battle in the Grapefruit league turns out to be a preview of the World Series. Last year the Yanks made it but the Cards missed on the last day. All of the St. Louis-New York games will be played at St. Pete's Al Lang field.

Miami again will be an important money stop. Two games will be played in Miami's new stadium, one of the most modern baseball plants in the nation.

The persistent Brooklyn club, still hoping to atone for last year's series disappointments, gets a chance in six other games with the Yanks. Three will be played at Miami. The others are set for Ebbsfield and Yankee stadium just before the opener.

As usual the clubs conclude with the customary city games. The St. Louis Cardinals and Browns meet at Sportsman's Park April 15-16, the Saturday and Sunday games. They will play Philadelphia Phils and A's play three Shibe Park games.

The Boston Red Sox and Braves clash twice in Florida at their respective training bases and meet three additional times in Boston. Chicago's two entries, the Cubs and White Sox, waste no time getting to grips with two city series games over the weekend in California. They will play their six-game set with three at Chicago.

Miller Named To All-NCC Squad
... Hastings Gets Two

HASTINGS, Neb.—(INS)—Del Miller, 5-10, Nebraska Wesleyan, who set a new league scoring record of 346 points this season, was named to the Hastings Daily Tribune's 1950 all-Nebraska college conference basketball team, chosen by coaches of member schools.

Two players from Hastings and one each from Peru State, Chadron State and Nebraska Wesleyan won positions.

Whitely Sieckmann, 6-foot 4-inch senior, and Bob Smith, 6-5 junior, were the Hastings college players selected—as forward and center, respectively.

Omer Meek, 6-2, of the championship Peru team, won the other forward berth. Del Miller and John Mankin, 5-8, Chadron, were placed at guard on the honor five.

Torreyes Move To Finals

STATE CLASS A COMPETITORS NAMED FROM ALL BUT FAIRBURY DISTRICT

(By the Associated Press)
NEBRASKA high school basketball teams need a break from the weather man Saturday to complete pre-state tournament firing in regional and playoff meets.

Friday's storm resulted in postponement of games at four sites. Only at Wayne and Fairbury, did it force a special-injury plans. Still on those slates are semifinals and finals to determine that district's representative in the Lincoln tournament next week.

ROCKETS DELAYED.
Other postponements were the Auburn Class B and Plainview Class C finals.

At Fairbury, Defending Champion Lincoln Northeast will meet Beatrice Saturday night while Falls City and Fairbury tangle for the other tournament berth.

Also on tap tonight are Class B playoffs at Fremont and O'Neill, Class C playoffs at Scottsbluff and York, and a Class D playoff at Holdrege.

Pairings are to be made at Lincoln Saturday for the state carnival, slated Wednesday through Saturday.

Grand Island and Hastings Friday night became the latest qualifiers for the Class A scramble. They joined Omaha Benson, Boys Town, Scottsbluff and North Platte.

The Islanders took a 47-25 decision in one semi-final clash at Grand Island, and Hastings nudged Columbus, 45-40, in the other bracket.

Grand Island shot to a 16-4 quarter lead and led substitutes run it up to 24-13 at halftime. The first team boosted the margin in the third period, then gave way again to reserves.

Hastings, in possession of a slim 21-20 advantage at intermission, had to wait until the official time out to rate the decision. The score stood at 36-all when Hastings pulled out in front.

Hastings' Dick Oberg took high point honors with 18. Merritt Schwarnewer contributed 13 to the Columbus total.

BENSON WINS OVERTIME.
Omaha Benson and Scottsbluff were "anti-climax" victors in the Omaha and McCook Class A regional finals.

Benson was forced into overtime before turning back Boys Town, 35-32. Two free throws by Bill Mann and another by Fred Seger provided the winning margin.

Scottsbluff splurged with less than four minutes to go as it fashioned a 52-46 win over North Platte. The score was tied 37-all when Bob Allen counted from the floor and put Scottsbluff out in front to stay.

Minden and Omaha Holy Name, established as 51-20 winners in a state tourney, each took another step along the championship trail.

Minden, which had won the finals of the Holdrege regional and managed a 20-13 decision over stubborn Cosad, it was a possession game, with Minden satisfied throughout to hold the ball.

Holy Name continued its march through the regional with a 51-20 decision, over Blair. The Omaha squad will meet Nebraska, a 44-41 victor over Teasman in the other semifinal, for the tourney plum Saturday.

York gained a berth in the Lincoln carnival with a 51-20 victory over Sutton in the York regional finals.

Michigan came behind in the dying seconds to tally a 35-31 win over Kimball in the Scottsbluff Class B regional final.

Handshy Dons NU Uniform

Injured Tackle Back; Huskers Still Indoors

By NORRIS ANDERSON
(Sports Editor of The Star.)

WAYNE HANDSHY, 235-pound tackle from Los Angeles, Calif., Thursday rejoined the Nebraska football squad.

Handshy has been out of action for 10 days with a foot injury.

Driven indoors by the late Nebraska winter, mentor Bill Glassford drove his charges through a long drill of fundamentals in the new 90-by-200-foot Henry F. Schulte field-house.

So spacious is the indoor arena that Glassford ordered goal posts set up and called out John Sinclair of Los Angeles and Don Hopkins of Omaha, both frosh, for field-booting practice.

Blocking was again heavily emphasized by the Husker headmaster as he called for an offense.

The first team included Frank Simon and Dick Regier, ends; Don Boll and Bob Muller, tackles; Walt Spellman and Don Strahm, guards; Kenneth Schroeder, center; Fran Nagle, quarterback; Gerry Ferguson and Bill Mueller, halfbacks, and Nick Adduci, fullback.

A second lineup features Ted Connor and Maxey Vestal, ends; Dick Goegelein and Charley Too-good tackles; Art Bauer and Carl Brassee, guards; Hyle Thibault, center; Frank Meyer, quarterback; Don Bloom and Bobby Reynolds, halfbacks, and Chuck Buehrer, fullback.

CLARK INJURED.
Halfback Ron Clark spent the afternoon in the training room, applying heat to a knee injury.

Glassford indicated that the weather would probably indicate that the proposed Saturday scrimmage be staged indoors.

No less than seven of the first 11 days of practice have been indoors.

Defense Ministers To Meet

Johnson Calls Confab Looked Upon As Part Of New Acheson Plan

WASHINGTON — (INS) — Defense Secretary Johnson Saturday scheduled an extraordinary session of the North Atlantic pact defense committee in a move regarded as backing for Secretary of State Acheson's new program of "total diplomacy" to combat Soviet attempts at world domination.

The sessions— to be attended by Johnson, Gen. Omar Bradley, joint chiefs of staff chairman, and munitions board chairman Hubert E. Howard—will come only a few weeks before Acheson holds a conference in Europe with the British and French on Atlantic treaty matters.

Acheson has indicated that the three-power conferences will precede a meeting in April or May of the Atlantic treaty council, the pact's top governing body.

Johnson is chairman of the second-ranking defense committee, organized in Washington last fall. In a second meeting in Paris last December, members drew up a global strategic plan for defense of the western world. This was later approved by President Truman.

Johnson gave no reason for the new meeting, except to say that regional strategic plans will be considered. There are five regional groups organized under the treaty.

Reunion Of Boys And Girls State 'Alumni'

Reunion of former Boys' and Girls' State delegates April 29 is being promoted by a group of University of Nebraska freshmen who attended, R. C. Patterson, state adjutant for the American Legion, said Friday.

It would be the first reunion of its kind and is expected to attract many of the 250 boys and girls who attended since the war. The reunion probably would be held on the University of Nebraska campus and is expected to become an annual affair.

Nurseries Ask Court OK For Farm Licenses

... On Business Trucks

Four Nebraska nursery firms filed suit in District court Saturday asking that they not be required to secure commercial license plates rather than farm plates for the motor vehicles used in their operation.

They asked the court to issue a declaratory judgment as to the correctness of their contention that they are farmers under the terms of the law and thus entitled to use farm plates.

The attorney general ruled in February that nurseries are not within the exemption provisions that provide that trucks of farmers used to carry farm products to storage or market are not deemed commercial trucks.

Asked by Four Firms. Bringing the suit were: Nebraska Nurseries, Inc., and the Williams Nurseries, both of Lincoln; Plumfield Nurseries, Fremont; and the Marshall Nurseries, Arlington.

Defendants named are: Clarence S. Beck, attorney general; Fred H. Kleitsh, state engineer; Carl J. Sanders, state safety patrol chief; and Owen J. Boyles, motor vehicle division director.

To back up their claim, the nurseries asserted that many of their products are produced directly from seeds and that in this process, farm tools are used. They stated that land used by the nurseries is devoted to agricultural purposes.

In 1934 an adjudication made by the administrative division of the department of auto registration provided that nurseries could use farm truck licenses.

Man Fined $100 For Driving On Suspended License

Horses can become expensive, even away from a race track.

This proved to be so in the case of Budge H. Sorter, 400 North First, in Municipal court Friday. Because of his two horses, Budge faced state charges of driving on a suspended driver's license, was found guilty, fined $100 and costs and sentenced to 30 days in the county jail. His attorney appealed the case.

State patrolmen, because of Budge's horses, stopped him March 4 on Highway 6. He was leading the two horses behind his car on the highway and was blocking traffic.

The patrolmen, Officers O'Neil and Parks, found he had no drivers license and through state records found that his license was suspended in September, 1949, under the state financial responsibility law.

The defendant did not testify and Judge Edward C. Fisher found him guilty. The court set appeal bond at $500.

Tennis Pro Is Arrested

Held For Disorderly And Lout Behavior

CHICAGO — (AP) — A man arrested here on charges of lewd and disorderly conduct was identified by police Saturday as John R. Howard, Jr., 25, professional tennis player and estranged husband of film star Diana Barrymore.

Another man and three women also were seized by detectives Friday in a raid on a north side hotel. All five were released under bonds of $50 apiece for appearance March 16 in women's court.

Certain Of Identity. Detective James Hoey said Howard declared he is the actress' husband.

Hoey and Detective Miles Kilbane said they were certain of Howard's identity, having checked a sheaf of photographs, identification papers, and letters he carried.

Howard and Miss Barrymore were married Jan. 15, 1937, in New York, but have been separated for about two years.

In Same Room. Hoey and Kilbane said Howard and Jacqueline Wells, 27, a model who sometimes uses the name of June Karr, were arrested in the same hotel bedroom. Miss Wells and the other two women—booked as Lee Reynolds, 23, a nurse, and Betty Allen, 24—were charged with soliciting and lewd conduct.

The other man—Howard Winer, 36, a clerk—was booked on disorderly conduct and lewd conduct charges.

Court Orders Election By Cab Company

An election to select a bargaining agent for employees of Yellow Cab, Inc., Omaha, was ordered for March 17 by the State Court of Industrial Relations at a hearing Friday.

George H. Turner, clerk of the court, will be in charge of the balloting.

Voting will begin at noon and end at midnight at the company office. Eligible will be 207 regular drivers, 39 extra drivers and 12 telephone operators.

The drivers are largely in accord with a stipulation offered the court asking the election by the company and the rival CIO and AFL unions. The vote will also include a proposal for no union representation.

The court changed the eligibility time of regular drivers to include all on the payroll for the week March 2, including those temporarily on leave. Part time drivers working as of Dec. 15 and still employed are eligible to participate in the election.

A strike of CIO drivers was ordered ended by the industrial court and since that time AFL unions have organized some of the workers. The settlement of differences between the unions is expected to bring about a new contract with the company.

HERE is a pleasant little game that will give you a message every day. It is a numerical puzzle designed to spell out your fortune. Count the letters in your first name. If the number of letters is 6 or more, subtract 4. If the number is less than 6, add 3. The result is your key number. Start at the upper left-hand corner of the rectangle and check every one of your key numbers left to right. Then read the message the letters under the checked figures give you.

Man Is Fined For Breaking Flying Laws

Lincoln's Municipal court Friday processed its first case of violation of the state's aeronautical laws and levied two fines totaling $85 against Steve Calvelage, 26, 1120 South Thirtieth.

Calvelage, employed at the state penitentiary, pleaded guilty to charges of operating an aircraft below the minimum altitude over a congested area and operating an aircraft without securing a certificate of registration as a pilot with the state department of aeronautics.

The charge, filed by Rolland Hart, state aeronautics department, was made on information by Neil Withrow, 1639 Pawnee, state supervisor of airports.
